

Beginning in 2004, military veterans have been eligible to apply for a special Veteran Licence Plate (VLP) to recognize and honour their service.

Since the program's inception, Government has received requests to expand the eligibility criteria to allow for other groups of drivers to be able to receive a VLP. Most recently, there have been requests that these plates be made available to police officers – specifically RCMP members.

This survey will gather feedback from British Columbians about their views on this issue and whether such changes should be considered.

The Ministry of Attorney General is inviting input from July 23, 2018 until September 4, 2018 at 4pm through this feedback form.

Thank you for taking the time to let us know what is important to you with regards to Veteran's Licence Plates.
The approximate time for completion of this questionnaire is about 5 minutes.
